

Lola

It is with great sadness that I announce the loss of our companion Lola. She was a great athlete that won numerous races and countless hearts. This three-legged creature hopped her way into the lives of many people and inspired several artists. She loved to sunbathe and enjoyed being a model for my drawing classes.

As Trey and I head towards the altar to begin a new chapter, we carry sweet memories of the girl that changed our lives forever. She had the strength and coat of a tiger and handled every challenge with such grace – what wonderful lessons she taught us! My long-time colleague and amazing artist, Jim Hastings, has been writing and illustrating a children’s story based on Lola for over a year. I can’t wait for this beautiful tribute to hit the bookshelves!

Thank you for your love and support,

Krystal
